

November leaves fall as theatre and film sprout

Description

Fall season brings not to be missed entertainment events

Welcome to golden leaves as we enter November!

The song Autumn Leaves, covered by many greats in English – Nat King Cole, Frank Sinatra, Doris Day – was originally written by French poet Jacques Prevert in 1945. Here is a rare version by heartthrob Yves Montand.

And in print, what finer illustration than the front page of the 1907 Chicago Tribune than John T. McCutcheon's wonderful Injun Summer, although the title might not be politically correct these days. Take a look at this iconic cartoon, which reappeared each year there until 1992, at the end of this article.

As leaves turn to gold, several new events are sprouting.

Theatre

Dracula: A Comedy of Terrors continues at the Segal Centre until November 15. ($20 “flash tickets” are available until the end of the run.)

Film

Cinemanía's 28th annual festival of French films with English subtitles runs until November 13 at Cinéma Imperial, Cinéma Québécois, Cinéma du Musée and Cinéma du Parc. Some 122 films – super pass to all or 6-pack, or individual tickets available. A few workshops or receptions are included. Luxembourg is featured in addition to the usual France, Belgium, Switzerland, Quebec, and Algeria.

Oh, yes, as mentioned above, here is the iconic Injun Summer cartoon, based on the artist's childhood in Indiana and published annually from 1907 to 1992 on the front page of the Chicago Tribune.
